

THE TOBACCO ANTIDOTE.

"Without Money and Without Price."

In our anti-tobacco labors, we see thousands who are paralyzed by tobacco, who struggle to be free, but give up in despair. They need an antidote for an insatiable appetite. Resolutions must be made, and we gladly publish it to every sufferer and to the world.

To such as are utterly stupefied by the drug, and such as revel in saliva and smoke-flouring in their shame—we make no appeal; but to such as "groan, being in bondage," longing to be free, we say, Here is our antidote, friend. Try it. We ask nothing for it.

1. Make the most of your will. Drop tobacco, and resolve never to use it again in any form.

2. Go to an apothecary, and buy ten cents' worth of gentian root, coarsely cut, as much of it after each meal, as amounts to a common quid "cut-out" or "cavendish."

3. Continue this for a few weeks, and you will come off conqueror. Then thank God, and thank us.

REASONS.

1. Gentian is a tonic, bitter in taste, and will do much to neutralize and ally your taste for tobacco.

2. Gentian is a nerve. It will brace up your relaxed and flabby nerves, and save you from the "awful goodness" under which victims agonize.

3. Gentian, for a short time, is an innocent substitute for the quid or pipe. It employs the mouth, beguiles attention, and gives a helping hand to a drowning man.

Despite our antidote. Money-making men give us to understand that, should we fill millions of little boxes with gentian, mark them "Trask's Infallible Tobacco Cure," price one dollar, we should soon fill our empty coffers and become a millionaire.

We shall do no such thing. We shall never spread tracts over the nation, nor fill the country with ruin. We shall only and fast refine soul, and tend nations; and we shall strive to try our antidote—Gentian, gentian, and the grace of God. Thousands will try it and be free.

Geo. Trask, Fitchburg, Mass., U.S.A.

Ghost Story.
A dispatch from Chicago of the 3d, gives us the following antics of a ghost in that locality, the truth of which is vouched for by the best people of that city:

The people in the northern portion of the city are getting excited about a ghost which haunts the Baptist Church and other localities in that vicinity, greatly to the terror of the inhabitants. It last appeared in the form of a man draped in white. Citizens who met the spirit tried to catch it, but it would instantly vanish from their sight and then shortly reappear. One man fired at it several times with his revolver without effect. One night last week the ghost appeared in a freight train coming into the city, getting on the track in the engineer's presence. The engineer supposed it was a man, and he fired at it.

THE ROMAN SENTINEL.
When Pompeii was destroyed, there were many buried in the ruins of it, who were afterward found in different situations. Some were found in deep vaults, as if they had gone thither for security. There were some found who were in the streets, as if they had been attempting to make their escape. There were some found in lofty chambers. But where did they find the Roman sentinel? They found him standing at the city gate, with his hand still grasping his war weapon, where he had been placed by the captain; and there where the lava stream rolled, he stood at his post, and there after a thousand years was passed, he was found.

THE BLESSINGS OF POVERTY.—If there is anything in the world that a young man should be more grateful for than another, it is the poverty which necessitates starting life under very great advantages. Poverty is one of the tests of human quality in existence. It is a test of it is like graduating from West Point. It is a test of it is like a young man who cannot stand this test is not good for anything. He can never rise above a drudge or pauper. A young man who cannot feel this will harden as the yoke of poverty presses upon him, and his pluck rise with every difficulty that poverty throws in his way, as well as his courage and his courage and his courage. Poverty saves a thousand times more than it ruins, for it only ruins those who are not particularly worth saving, while it saves multitudes whom wealth would have ruined.

TO PURIFY A ROOM.—Set a pitcher of water in a room, and in a few hours it will have absorbed all the noxious gases therein, the air of which will become purer; but the water utterly filthy. The colder the water is, the greater the capacity to contain gases. At any ordinary temperature a pail of water will contain a net of carbonic acid gas and several millions. The capacity is near 100 cubic feet. For reducing the water to the temperature of ice, house water kept in a jar while it is always unfit for use. The same reason the water from a well would always be pumped up in the morning, before any of it is used. The pure water is more injurious than impure. The above, if true, proves how necessary it is to have a purifier. For the purpose of saying that a large majority of people use water for drinking which has "absorbed" for hours the noxious gases of their rooms. Much care is required to preserve health.

MORRIS!
I suffered with CATARRH THIRTY YEARS—was cured in six weeks by a simple remedy, and will send the receipt, postage free, to all afflicted. Address: Rev. T. J. MEAD, Drawer 175, Syracuse, N.Y.

Many years ago, the writer of these lines and an invalid physician of St. Croix for their health, experienced and witnessed the beneficial effects of the Balm there produced upon many of the invalids (ourselves) seeking health; and, upon inquiry and investigation, obtained of its medicinal virtues. We was delighted and surprised, and after which soon occurred, determined, if possible, to procure the sole right to and sell it in the United States.

The result of his labors was a glorious success for himself and suffering for the celebrated PLANTATION BITTERS was thus made known to the world. TATION BITTERS being an article of real merit, founded upon new principles, relying wholly upon the vegetable world for its medicinal effects, worked a revolution in the history of medicine, and became a household word all over the world. The celebrated S. T.—1880—Z. was a tall man of health, and the PLANTATION BITTERS soon for exceeded the abilities of the proprietors.

Notwithstanding the large importation of St. Croix Rum, made expressly for the purpose of these Bitters, the quantity was inadequate. It therefore that arrangements upon an extensive scale abroad should at once be made, and was dispatched to St. Thomas for that purpose. He was fortunate in landing several plantations on some of the largest and most productive islands. Hence, still and process were erected as if by magic, and the natives cured, and very soon the proprietors of the PLANTATION BITTERS were supplying their laboratory with all the perfectly pure and the GREAT DYSPEPTIC TONIC AND DIVERGENT.

As an antidote to Fever and Ague, Intermittent and Malarial Fevers, other kindred diseases, the use of the PLANTATION BITTERS is a well known history of the world. Over five million bottles are disposed of annually, adapted to old and young, male and female. They are agreeable in taste, and produce an immediate beneficial result.

Public Speaking.
Judge R. K. Williams, desires it announced that he will address the citizens of Fulton county, at the Court House, Monday the 12th instant.

Dr. Miles will also give an account of his wardship to the people on that day.

Johnson's Appointments.
According to the Union & American, Garner, announces that Ex-President Johnson will speak at Knoxville on Monday, and at Nashville on the 6th instant. From Nashville he will proceed to Memphis and will speak there also.

COL. PICKETT, editor of the Paducah Gazette, has been appointed postmaster at that place.

KENTUCKY, in her existence of seventy six years, never lost a cent by the defection of any State official.

The Iron Mountain railroad is in operation a distance of forty miles north from Belmont.

W. B. GIBBS, Esq., announces himself a candidate for Attorney General in the 5th (Tennessee) Circuit.

That railroad bridge over the Ohio which is to be built. The Commissioning Congress, to whom the question was referred, have unanimously agreed to report a bill for constructing it.

There was over $35,000 worth of furs bought at this place the present season.

The number of registered voters in Fulton county is, 595. White 356, negroes 239.

The rumor that General Logan was lately admitted to the Methodist church at Carlinville, Ill., is correct, but he is kept on probation so long as he continues in Congress.

The Paducah Herald says: "We saw in the market-house this morning a man peddling patent medicines who once had the honor of being a candidate for Congress in this district, but that was some eighteen years ago, and time, tide, fate and fortune, since then have made many changes."

There are many who are of the opinion that the present administration is a compromise effected on the Civil Tenure of Office bill, which was rushed through both Houses under the pressure of the Conference Committee. The House, under the explanation of Butler and Bingham, thought that the Senate had yielded to a virtual repeal of the old law, and Senators were made to believe, through Mr. Trumbull's plausibility, that the House had in substance accepted what is known as the Senate amendment, but now Senators and members of Congress, who were for repeal, declare that through the usual mystification of a conference report, they had been deceived. In this category is Mr. Fowler, from the first, has been for the law. In the House, eight Republicans voted against the bill, while the remainder, Fowler and Gilbert were on hand and refused to vote in the Senate. In the House it was reported that the new bill did not, under any circumstances, restore a suspended officer, provided his successor was not confirmed, but subsequently it turned out after the bill passed, that if the vacancy in an office is not filled during the session of the Senate, the men who were suspended from the office return to the old place at the expiration of said session. The old law therefore is substantially unchanged in principle. Senator Williams, who drew up the old law, says the new bill is better. The indignation among the Radical repealers is very great. The House repealers say that Ben. Butler has sold them out. An attempt will be made to get the President veto the bill.

It is well known that man who imagines himself a doggie enemy by trying to please every body, if such an individual ever exists, we should be glad if it were known to the world trying to find means to knock and thump his poor head against, disputing every man's opinion, fighting and bawling and crowding all who differ with him. That, again, is another extreme. Other people have a right to their opinion, so have you; don't fall into the error of supposing they will respect you more for turning your coat every day to match the color of theirs. Wear your own colors, in spite of winds and weather, storms or sunshine. It costs the vacillating and irresolute ten times the trouble to wind and shuffle and twist, that it does honest, manly independence to stand its ground.

The United States Court adjourned yesterday evening. The two men from Webster county, charged with being Ku-Klux, were sentenced to one year imprisonment, and $50 fine. The man in Ballard county, charged with being a negro, was fined $100.

The "Situation."
The present condition of the country is so unsettled and precarious that it must be evident to President Grant, if he takes the trouble to reflect, that some healing process is needed entirely different from any ever before resorted to on this continent.

Nothing of the old Government remains but the empty shell. It is a piece of machinery that is strained, cracked and incapable of performing even the work for which it was originally designed. Running painfully and with constant danger of breaking down during the past twenty-five years of its existence, it can no longer be guided with any degree of accuracy.

See how it started forward under the new administration. Every part for itself—the Senate, the Lower House, and the President, bumping along, jolting over their respective coals, the clamor of many of office seekers pursuing as best they can with streaming hair and eager eyes. As for the Judiciary Department of the machinery, that is virtually resting in inaction—dead as the Paris Parliament after Louis XIV.

Dissatisfied.
Some of Gen. Grant's best friends—some of his best political friends—begin to look upon him as a failure, if not as a humbug. This thing of appointing all his relations to office they regard as a swindle. For instance, the Union, a Radical paper, published at Circleville, Ohio, thus takes him to task for his innumerable appointments of that sort: "We believe in public men who have been elevated to office, remembering those who assisted them in their elevation. We think it well for President Grant, now that he is safely in the White House, not to be unkind to his friends who have placed him there. We have no objections to his rewarding Washburne and Rawlins as the deserve—no objections to his providing his paternal ancestors' with a good fat place—no objection, in particular to his giving all his brothers and brothers-in-law lucrative offices. But when he shows a disposition to hunt up all his wife's consins, from the first to the forty-second, we think he is going a little too far, and would suggest that the tenure of office act be put in force to restrain him. Too many of one family, even though its name be Grant, are not desirable."

The Poisoned Chalice.
Now and then the moral people of the North are permitted to have a slight taste of the horrors which they have inflicted upon the helpless people of the Southern States. By the reconstruction policy the semi-savage negro has been put in virtual possession of the best part of the country, and has been incited by every conceivable means to deeds of violence and acts of outrage upon the subjugated and defenseless whites. The negro has not been slow to avail himself of his position; in his favorite role of Ravisher he has played a bold and active part, while the saints of radicalism have looked on with undisguised satisfaction.

But the invention of wickedness ever returns to plague the inventor. Negroes imbued with the principles they have learned in the South occasionally cross the Atlantic. Now and then they give the white man a taste of the "Klax" outrage.

There is but little doubt of his being the guilty party. The excitement in the community was intense, and Friday night an effort was made to take Norris from jail and hang him. No less than eight hundred people gathered about the building, and speeches were made by a number of prominent citizens, and the mob was induced to disperse. The prison has since been guarded by a strong force summoned by the sheriff. The young ladies outraged are daughters of three most respectable farmers in that vicinity.

If such a mob had assembled in the South for such a purpose, it would have been styled a "Klax" outrage.

MEXICO.

Revolutionary State of the Country—Juarez About to Call in the United States.

From the New York Herald.
MONTEREY, Feb. 28, 1869.
As I informed you in my former letter that the whole country was in a revolutionary blaze, it is now verified. We are in possession of reliable information respecting the conduct. The opposition party have made serious developments respecting the funds of the revolution. It appears that Juarez has $800,000. Lerdo de Tejada $500,000, Mejia $300,000 and the balance divided to other officials nearly $2,000,000. The rest belonged to commercial parties. As you are aware, the conduct amounted $3,040,000; so you will perceive since the installation of Juarez they have had fat pickings.

Negrete has defeated a part of the government forces, and it is presumed that the balance of the forces of the government will turn over to Negrete.

It is also stated that Juarez will give a manifesto to the nation, alleging that he cannot govern the country without the aid of the protection of the United States, and requires a protectorate.

As you are aware, the butcher Escobedo is doing his work in Tamaulipas by special order from the general government, exterminating and burning villages and towns, much more than during the time of the empire. There is now no drum head court martial; a man is caught and shot down like a dog. This is savage in the extreme, and goes far ahead of all the atrocities ever committed by the imperialists.

We have also information of a proclamation at San Luis, caused by the general government ordering Juan Buscamento, no options to the people and mercantile community, to receive the government from its present possessor. They have armed themselves to defend the present Governor. So the thing goes.

The general government has sent a draft for five thousand dollars, the monthly payment given to this State for the defense of the Indians, according to the general Congress. This is a drop of water in the bucket, as the urgent monetary situation is serious in the extreme, and they have no resources whatever to carry on the machinery of government, and all the burden is laid upon foreigners, who have to foot the bills. Where will we get the aid and protection necessary? It is now of absolute importance that General Grant should take a decided step.

A Deckhand Inherits a Fortune.

Henry Murty was, many years ago, employed as a deckhand about Pittsburgh on steamers owned by the Poe family. More lately he was with Captain Tom Rogers, on the St. Louis and New Orleans packet W. H. Osborn. Capt. Rogers was his warmest friend, taking great interest in his welfare and befriending him by example and advice in such manner that Henry entertained a strong affection for him. Henry was only a deckhand or fireman, and certainly never rose to a higher grade than watchman, but he was a shrewd fellow when sober, which he generally was. He seemed contented with his position and his wages, little thinking what great things were in store for him. It will be remembered with what gleety pride he was promoted to the position of watchman, less than two years ago, an account of the discovery of the decomposing corpse of a human being in the lonely room of a large building in this city. The corpse was that of a man named Sullivan. Henry Murty was this man's cousin and his heir. Sullivan was an old citizen of unsoberable disposition and habits, and was possessed of great wealth, as the sequel shows. Murty, as he is called, was the son of the agency of his lawyer, Mr. Broadhead, was lately handed the sum of one hundred and ninety-five thousand dollars, and the real estate, lands and stocks which accrued to him, will raise the amount of wealth now possessed by this lately friendless and seemingly contented Irishman, to four or five hundred thousand dollars. What'll he do with it?—St. Louis Democrat.

The Event of the Period.—It is whispered in Washington that Mrs. Grant is in that interesting condition in which ladies who love their lords delight to be, and will add another heir to the house of Grant, another olive branch at his table, and a little arrow to his quiver. That ubiquitous court journal, the New York Herald, has delicately prepared the public mind for the event by a mysterious allusion to the lady's health, and as she will be the first President's wife who has ever given birth to a child in the White House, the occasion will doubtless be the cause of honest rejoicing among all the people who voted for the happy father that is to be, who will be perfectly satisfied in their own mind, that "the nation" will owe this auspicious event to the fact of their having been original Grant men. If a boy, the coming young man, being a bona fide original Grant boy, should be immediately appointed to some office in order not to interfere with the time-honored custom of the family. It will not be necessary for him to do the duties of his office. His pa can publish an order relieving him and let him draw his pay.

Hard Times.

Portly female meets a sceddy young man.
"Well, sur, I'm gittin' t'ell yez my situation."

S. Y. M.—"Well, madam, I am rejoiced to know that you have a situation. For my part I have been looking for a situation these six months, and haven't found it yet."

P. F.—"Tut man! Don't be foolin' wid me. I'm a poor woman, and haven't a cent."

S. Y. M.—"That's my fix exactly. I haven't a cent, and don't know where my next meal is to come from."

P. F., persistent—"If ye please, sur, I'd like a five cents to buy me a thrift of bread."

S. Y. M.—"So would I; but I'm bustled. Haven't a cent. Could you lend me where I would get a job of work, so that I could make a raise of a few dollars?"

P. F., in wrath—"Och, ye to hill, and may the devil fly away wid yez; I'll ax no more."

The plan of the Radical leaders in Congress now is to exclude the Democratic delegations of Georgia and Louisiana, and then to refuse seats to a sufficient number of Democratic members from other States to secure to their party the coveted three-fourths vote, so that they may carry the day, and to override Grant's veto as they overrode Johnson's, and to carry any Constitutional amendments through their body.

To accomplish this, they will stickle at nothing. No law, no morality will restrain them. They have had a taste of tyrannical power, they have quaffed it copiously, and its maddening fumes are in their brains, and they are now raging for it as a drunken mania rages for his liquor. They are determined to persist to the last in the use of force and violence and outrage for maintaining complete control of the Government.

We Shall Soon Fly.—Bernard Cressler, of this State, has constructed a flying machine, which, he maintains, if enlarged to proper proportions, will be capable of carrying a man through the air with safety. We examined this marvellously intricate piece of mechanism in its embry state, and there seems to be some plausibility in the claims of the inventor. It has wings about two feet in length. It is contended that if they are extended thirteen additional feet, covering 900 square feet of ground, with silk attached, the flying machine can be operated successfully. —Harrisburg (Pa.) Patriot.

We have heard the opinion expressed that Andrew Johnson will again be Governor of Tennessee and United States Senator. There are men living who believe more than this—that he will again be President. The Greenville, Tennessee correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial says:

"Strangely enough there are many people here who honestly believe that Johnson will be President of the United States again before he sheds off this mortal coil. I met with one of these believers in a future state for A. J. a few days ago, and he said: 'Yes, I firmly believe that he will again be President of the United States. He is but sixty years old, and as stout as though he were but thirty, and smart—well, the world has not his equal. So far from losing his mental powers, they get stronger day by day, as you will see before the end of the summer, after he gets rested a little and turns loose on old Snakes. Thirty-five years ago, when he was at work in his little shop down yonder, if I had said that man would be President of the United States, I would have been called a fool, and with good reason. But are not the chances better now than they were then? Time will demonstrate that I am right—wait and see.'"

WAR TO THE KNIFE.—Advices from Cuba from patriot sources state that Cespedes has replied to Dulles' declaration of war to the knife, by a decree that all persons taken hereafter, excepting regular Spanish soldiers, are to be immediately put to death.

Council Proceedings.

HICKMAN, March 29.
Council met. Present: The Mayor, Councilmen, Burgess, McCutchen, Lauderdale, Hubbard, and Frenz.
The finance committee made no report. The secret committee reported that they had the boundaries of Monmouth street re-established by A. E. Brevard, County Surveyor, and had notified John Miller, agent of Mrs. Mary F. Miller, of the fact, and stated that the fence should be re-erected.

By reason of a mistake discovered in the report of J. H. Morehead, late city clerk, on Monday he was ordered to the finance committee for their investigation. On motion, an order was directed to be drawn on the Treasurer for $5 in favor of A. E. Brevard for establishing the boundaries of Monmouth street.

Alister was read to the Council from M. Burns late President of the N. and W. R. Company, calling upon the city through the Mayor to know what arrangements the Council could make to pay thirty coupons which he held against the city.

On motion, the Mayor was instructed to write Mr. Burns, and inform him that they could pay nothing on the aforesaid coupons the present year.

Major Lauderdale stated to the Council that he held city bond No. 53, payable to Wm. R. Kirby & Co. of St. Louis, Mo., dated January 16th, 1866, for $500, with a credit of $25 paid in 1867, and that he had lost said bond, and desired the council to direct their clerk to issue to said parties a duplicate bond on his making an affidavit as to the loss of said parties concerned to the foregoing facts.

On motion, the request was granted. The Council then adjourned.

—R. H. WALKER, Clerk.

The Negro Question.

It is evident that the negro question is rapidly declining in importance. That the inevitable negro is about to give place to something else, must be gratifying to all, although some Radical dispeed may feel grieved at the speedy disappearance of their cherished "colored friends" from the stage. The national debt, the innumerable office-holders, the military governments existing in one part of the country, and the many violations of the constitution, is forcing him out of the way, and daily reminding all of the rich blessings the question has brought upon us.

TENNESSEE.—A general election throughout the State, for Judges, will be held on the 24th day of May. In the nomination of candidates, it is urged that a party nomination ought not to be made, because politics are no part of a Judge's qualification, and because it would bring defeat. This policy—for it is a policy—will do away with conventions, and therefore friends do not hesitate to argue that conventions ought not to be held.

DISCOUNTING THE MORMONS.—Mr. Julian has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives "To discourage Polygamy in Utah by granting the right of suffrage to the Women of that Territory." It provides that the right of suffrage may be exercised by the people "without any distinction or discrimination whatever on account of sex."

Whether this would be a discouragement of polygamy or an encouragement, may be questionable. Who knows but its effect might be to produce a rush in the direction of the promised land by those who look upon the ballot as an essential ingredient in the female pursuit of happiness?

OBITUARY.

Died on the 23rd of February, 1869, at Minneapolis, Minnesota, of pulmonary tuberculosis, SAMUEL H. WILSON, of Fulton county, Tenn., aged 24 years, 6 months, and 23 days.

The deceased was a son of F. H. and Phebe Wilson, who were, in days gone by, well known and much respected by many in this vicinity. His mother, brother, and sisters, are still left to regret his loss; but his father and one brother has gone before him to that land where the changes of time are unknown.

The deceased, who leaves behind him many sorrowing friends, was a young man of great promise, and was greatly beloved by all who knew him. He was just in the early bloom of his young manhood when the late unfortunate war broke out, and like most of the gallant young men of the South, entered the Confederate Army soon after the commencement of hostilities, and served the "land we love" as a brave and faithful soldier 'till stern necessity compelled the people of the South to ground their arms.

Though saddened by this unfortunate end of the terrible struggle, he, like most of his fellow soldiers, returned at once to the peaceful avocations of life, unmolested by the disastrous past, with unshaken courage, resolving to forget in a career of usefulness the mournful events of the war. But, alas! hardly had he entered this new field of labor before his manly energies were palsied by the hand of disease.

About one year before his death, while in the South, he took severe cold, from which he anticipated no danger, nor experienced any great inconvenience. In fact, from that time until the hour of his death, so imperceptible was his decline, and so stealthily the approach of the grim enemy, that he scarcely realized that he was in danger. Yet, slowly and surely the inevitable hour was approaching, but like the brave and gallant soldier, he was not taken by surprise. Full panopied in the armor of light, he encountered the King of Terrors, and vanquished him even in the hour of his triumph. Calmly and with his mind in perfect composure to the last moment, he passed away.

Dr. Wilson, by the advice of his physicians, went to Minnesota, to try the benefit of that cold and dry climate, but notwithstanding he had the very best medical attention, and kind nursing, nothing seemed to check the steady approach of the fell destroyer. He had the consolation of his fond mother's presence, and devoted care to soothe and cheer him in his prolonged illness; besides, the kindest attention of the many new friends, which his noble bearing and unflinching fortitude gathered around him. He frequently said, "Death had no sorrow for him," for he had the presence of the Everlasting Father as his shield and buckler, and was upheld by Him who had himself passed through the dark valley and shadow of death before him, and took away the sting of death for all his faithful followers. Oh! who can tell that a consolation it was, that he could say:

Soon and forever the work shall be done, The warfare accomplished, and the victory won. Soon and forever the soldier lay down The sword for a harp, the cross for a crown; Soon and forever—such promises our trust Though ashes to ashes and dust to dust; Soon and forever our union shall be Made perfect, my glorious Redeemer, in thee.

Thus has passed away a gallant christian gentleman, but his relations and friends sorrow not as those without hope, for they cherish the belief that there is rest for the people of God beyond the veil, and that their loved and lost one is now enjoying the blissful repose of that land of the blest.
